

What is a Juul?

(pronounced jewel)

A vaping device that's been trending on high school and college campuses doesn't look like a vaping device.

The Juul vaporizer (Stylized as "JUUL") looks like a USB flash drive.

Students plug the juuls into their laptops to charge them. Juul-issued flavor "pods" can deliver more than double the nicotine - and nicotine buzz - of other vaping products

One Juul pod contains as much nicotine as a pack of cigarettes.

Cap can be removed and the pod is inserted into the end of the Juul device

This is the charger device. It can be charged using a computer or any universal USB wall charger

The Juul is shown here plugged into the charger device that is plugged into a computer

Resources for Teens

ASPIRE - Online Interactive Program

A free, bilingual, online tool that helps middle and high school teens learn about being tobacco free. It explains the dangers of tobacco and nicotine use, so they never start smoking. Or, if they already do, it gives information and ways to quit.
